Sea Otter Inlet Descriptive Language

Writers make writing interesting for the reader by using descriptive language that lets the reader clearly picture the scenes, and remember the ideas. Sometimes writers do this by using adjectives that vividly describe something, or a language image that captures the reader's interest.

For example, in "Sea Otter Inlet", the writer uses descriptive words to help you picture the marine habitat:

- "deep seaweedy forests of kelp"
- "giant seaweeds with flat leaf-like blades"

Choose six examples of descriptive language from the story that helped you picture the events.
