Maybe an underwater submarine, or looking for treasure under water.

As you read through the report, think about the questions asked in each section and use them to help you write notes for each section in the summary document and to create your summary below.

Read "A Water Park" to find out what this marine park is like.	What makes the park different from other parks? Have you ever been to or seen anything like this?
Read "Location" to find out about the area of the park.	Where is this park located? What other places is it close to? How do visitors get around in the park?
Read "Nature" to find out what natural features and wildlife there is.	What can people explore in this park? Why is this a great place to enjoy nature? What wildlife might I find there?
Read "Origin" to find out how this park got started.	When did it become a marine park? Why is it an important marine park? Why did the author write this report?

Use these questions to guide your responses to your summary at each section. Add your information to the appropriate boxes on the Fathom Five Organizer. Write two to three sentences about this park in the summary section.
