Questions for Roosevelt Campobello International Park

Preview the report. Read the title and headings, look at the pictures, and list two other examples of "what I noticed" and "what I already know" in the chart below.

What I noticed	What I already know
A lighthouse <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>- looks like it is on an island</li><li>- looks like people fish there</li><li>- it is in New Brunswick</li></ul>	Lighthouses warn ships of dangerous rocks <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>- people wear life jackets to keep safe in boats</li><li>- lighthouses are on islands</li><li>- New Brunswick is right beside the ocean</li></ul>

Write your responses to the questions below.

I predict this report will be about

A park on an island, a place where you can go fishing.

As you read through the report, think about the questions asked in each section and use them to help you write notes for each section in the summary document and to create your summary below.

Read "An Island Park" to find out what this marine park is like.	What makes the park different from other parks? How would you describe this park?
Read "Location" to find out about the area of the park.	Where is this park located? What other places is it close to?
Read "Wildlife" to find out what natural features and wildlife there is.	What wildlife might I find there? Can I find the same wildlife everywhere in the park?
Read "Origin" to find out how this park got started.	How did this park get started? How did the park get its name? What is unique about the park?

Use these questions to guide your responses to your summary at each section. Write a couple of things in each column of the summary sheet. Write two to three sentences about this park in the summary section.

Just click on a section and start typing.
