

Try This 2

TT 2. Possible Solutions

- a. The number 1 is not a prime number because it only has one factor, whereas a prime number has exactly two factors. You can also accept the statement that the definition of a prime requires a number larger than 1.
- b. According to the definition, 0 is not a prime number because it is not a natural number.