ASSIGNMENT BOOKLET 13

Instructions for Submitting Assignment Booklets

1. Submit Assignment Booklets regularly and only one Assignment Booklet at one time. This allows your teacher to provide comments you can apply to subsequent work.
2. Check the following before submitting each Assignment Booklet:
 - Are all assignments complete?
 - Have you edited your work to ensure accuracy of information and details?
 - Have you proofread your work to ensure correct grammar, spelling, and punctuation?
 - Did you complete the Assignment Booklet cover and attach the correct label?

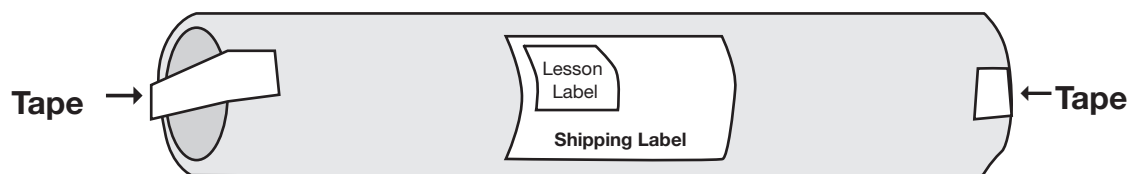

Preparing the Assignment Booklet

Ensure that the lesson number on the label is the number on the Assignment Booklet. Peel the corresponding preprinted label for the Assignment Booklet from the backing and apply it to the appropriate space on the cover page.

- Never use tape or staples to attach the label to the Assignment Booklet.
- Do not put the preprinted label on the outside of the mailing envelope.

Preparing the Mailing Envelope or Mailing Tube

- The mailing envelopes provided are pre-addressed to ADLC. Attach your return address.
- Some courses provide mailing tubes. Roll your assignment(s) and Assignment Booklet and insert them into a mailing tube. Seal the tube and apply the correct label to a shipping label provided. Affix the shipping label to the outside of the tube. When your submission is returned, you can re-use the mailing tube for subsequent lessons.

C₁₃ LESSON THIRTEEN

Value

Assignment 1: Use a Viewfinder to Draw Four Pencil Thumbnail Sketches.

Go outside to find a landscape that excites you. If it is too cold to draw and paint outside, look out one of your windows. Use a Golden Section point to develop a centre of interest. The thumbnails should be value studies—that is, studies in light and dark. Do the values work to lead the eye as it travels around the drawing? Does it run off the edge or keep traveling around the composition? To develop a centre of interest, use the most contrast in the area of greatest interest. This can be value contrast, colour contrast, and/or development of contrasting details.

Value

Assignment 2: Paint a Landscape in Watercolour

Use a pencil to enlarge your best thumbnail onto a piece of watercolour paper. Use your new knowledge of drawing and watercolour techniques to create a fully developed watercolour landscape. Watercolour is sometimes considered a drawing medium. Why do you think this might be? Use several of the techniques from the last lesson in a spontaneous way. Remember that to avoid lifting pigment, it is useful to let a layer completely dry before proceeding with a new one. When you are satisfied with your initial washes and layers, try using your brush to draw details expressively.

Points to Ponder

1. For my thumbnail sketches, have I developed interesting compositions? Is their centre of interest in a Golden Section point?
2. Are my thumbnails of the same proportion as my finished watercolour? (Did I use a properly proportioned viewfinder?)
3. Did I include a foreground, middleground, and background?
4. Did I paint a graded wash for the sky, perhaps leaving some white for clouds that I painted in later?
4. How many techniques from in the last lesson did I use in my landscape?

5. Did I use a variety of browns, greens, and blues, rather than just one colour?
6. Did I let some of my colours mix on the paper?
7. Did I create interesting textures and details in the foreground?
8. Did I soften any hard edges? Where did I do this? (Foreground, middleground, or background?)
