

Project Rubric

	Excellent (4)	Very good (3)	Acceptable (2)	I'm trying (1)	Oops!
Do I compare and contrast two cultures? Are both represented equally?	I chose aspects of two different cultures and balanced how I represented them.	I chose aspects of two different cultures and the representation is mostly balanced.	I chose aspects of two different cultures, but I show a little more of one than the other.	I chose aspects of two cultures but was only really able to talk about one.	I didn't choose two cultures.
Do I use research to support my ideas?	I explored my topic deeply. I used different sources to find information.	I explored my topic well. I used some different sources to find information.	I did general research into my topic. I used a couple of sources to find information.	I did very little research and mostly used my own opinions and ideas.	I didn't research at all.
Do I provide thought provoking details?	I provide evidence of insightful inquiry (lots of details) from a variety of sources.	I provide evidence of good inquiry (enough details) from a number of sources.	I provide some details from my inquiry from a couple of sources.	I provide few details, mostly from my own opinions and ideas.	I didn't provide any detail at all.
Do I choose an appropriate way to share my project? Is it engaging and informative?	I chose an interesting way to share my project. The visuals that I chose enhanced my project.	I chose a good way to share my project. The visuals that I chose helped my project.	I chose a basic way to share my project. The visuals that I chose didn't really contribute to my project.	I chose a basic way to share my project. The visuals that I chose took away from my project.	I didn't present my project.
Do I present my project in a way that is engaging for other students and my teacher?	I engaged other students my teacher by showing dynamic information, and by trying to teach them something new.	I engaged other students by showing my information in an interesting way.	I presented my project in a basic way. It wasn't very engaging.	I presented minimal information in my project.	I didn't engage other students or my teacher.
Do I incorporate feedback from my teacher?	I used my teacher's feedback to make my project better.	I considered the feedback from my teacher and used some of it to make my project better.	I considered the feedback from my teacher, but left out important details in my project.	I considered the feedback from my teacher, but didn't use any of it in my project.	I didn't consider the feedback from my teacher, or I didn't submit my research, or I didn't discuss this with my teacher.